

Office

AMG chooses one-of-a-kind design for new headquarters

by Jill Jamieson-Nichols

There will be no mistaking AMG National Trust Bank's new headquarters in Greenwood Village for any other suburban office building.

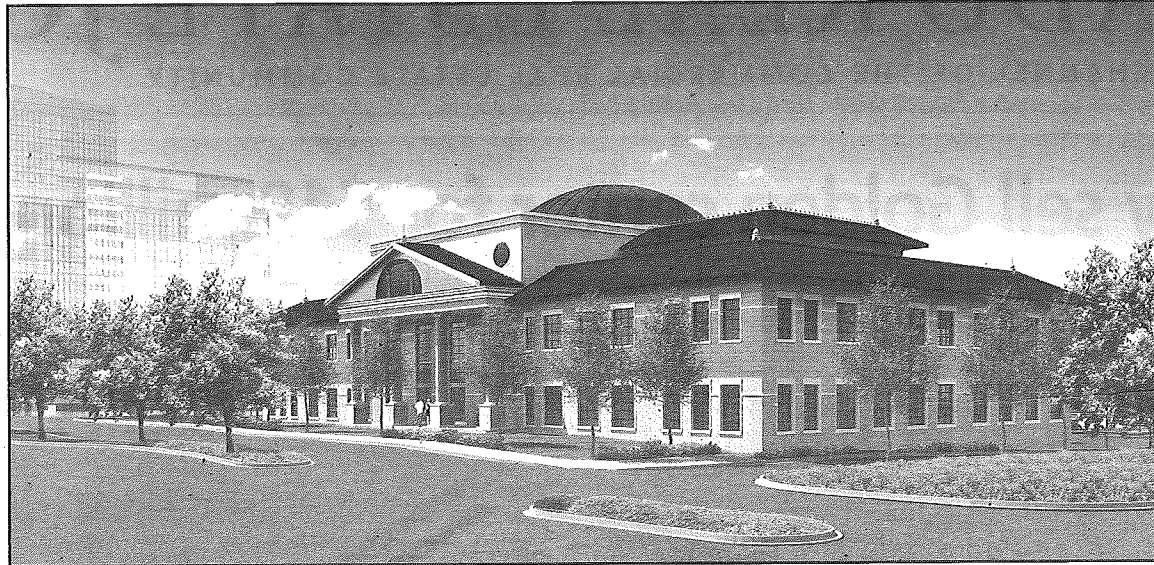

The Palace of the Rhine, a stately, domed edifice in Strasbourg, France, inspired the 45,000-square-foot building, which will be built at the northwest corner of East Caley Avenue and Greenwood Plaza Boulevard in Greenwood Village Town Center.

"We wanted a permanent presence that reflects the strength and stability of the company and our commitment to our clients," said AMG spokeswoman Emily Musser.

Prime West will develop the building for AMG, which will relocate from leased offices at 6501 E. Belleview Ave. in Englewood. Swinerton Builders expects to break ground in March and have the new headquarters ready for occupancy in early April 2015.

Ware Malcomb designed the three-story building.

"Greenwood Village is noted for its unique building designs. This one, with the dome and classic use of stone, is a unique design. There is nothing like it in the market," said Steve Clarke, Prime West president and CEO. "It will be a very distinctive facility for AMG and Greenwood Village."

The Palace of the Rhine in Strasbourg, France, inspired AMG National Trust Bank's new headquarters building.

"We are looking forward to returning our headquarters to the high-growth environment of Greenwood Village," David Wright, CEO of AMG's holding company, said in a statement.

"We are excited to take this next step in the company's 40-year history," commented AMG President and CEO Sheryl Bollinger. "Our new building will embody the strength and permanence of our conviction to our clients' success. We are excited to bring our 80 employees into such a remarkable new facility in Greenwood Village."

Clarke said the location provides great access for the bank's employees and clients. "Greenwood Village has been very welcoming to them," he added. "The planning commission, City Council, the development team and AMG all worked very hard to get this design approved. It required some flexibility on everybody's part, and Greenwood Village was very accommodating to AMG."

Located near Fiddler's Green

Amphitheatre, AMG's headquarters will have 277 parking spaces and is planned to achieve LEED certification.

AMG National Trust Bank is a privately held national bank that provides comprehensive financial services to clients, including investment management, commercial banking, financial counseling, trust services, tax planning and return preparation, access to alternative investments, a donor-advised charitable foundation and others. Its main banking office is in Boulder.

Assets over $3.5 billion are managed or in custody for clients nationwide and abroad. AMG's commercial banking division has more than $177 million in deposits and more than $80 million in loans.